Searching for “Eureka!” in the Midst of a Seismic Shift

California’s official motto, as depicted in the state seal is "Eureka!", referring to the discovery of gold in the 1840s. "Eureka" is a Greek word meaning "I have found it" – the Greek mathematician Archimedes is said to have exclaimed "Eureka!" when he finally discovered a method for determining the purity of gold. In today’s lingo, “Eureka!” is a cry of joy when one finally solves the solution to a perplexing challenge. For the nuclear industry “Eureka!” could be that elusive moment when political landscapes and market conditions afford the predictability to invest in nuclear growth. But certainly, that is not the case in most markets, and especially, not in California, a state that is turning away from nuclear power for many of the same reasons that afflict the nuclear industry today.

As the 45th Annual Meeting of the World Nuclear Fuel Market convenes in Monterey, California, nuclear fuel producers and buyers will continue to ponder on the challenges ahead, and the direct impact on nuclear fuel markets. The industry continues to search for that elusive “Eureka!” in times of persistently low energy prices in the West, premature plant shutdowns, slow restart of nuclear generation in Japan, and other developments that may either contribute to, or upset the apple cart. The challenge for the nuclear fuel cycle is how to weather the market conditions, where supply outstrips demand, driving persistently low uranium prices. More importantly, it is whether short term supply chain strategy decisions could permanently fracture the foundations of the industry as it goes through this seismic economic shift. This 45th WNFM Annual Meeting will seek to shed light into the strategies of market movers and shakers with the objective of sharing glimmers of hope as they search for “Eureka!”.

We look forward to welcoming you to Monterey, California and to the 45th WNFM Annual Meeting!
